Thumbprints to make heart

Can also use handprints for "leaves."

For Someone "Berry" Special Writing prompt craftivity

The red strawberry's leaves are one dimensional, where as the pink strawberry's are 3D.

Pizzazz things up with markers and a school photo.

If you add the flower, I think the photo looks cute in the center.

If you don't want the flower, the school photograph looks nice at the top or bottom of the back of the strawberry.

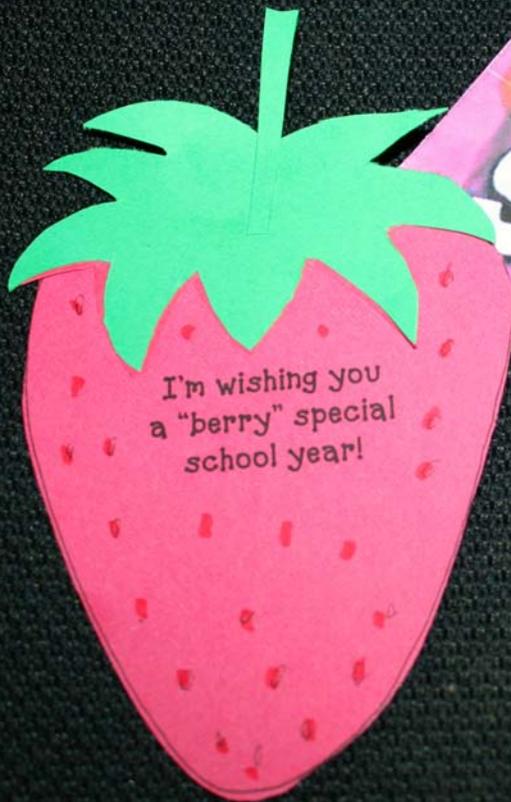

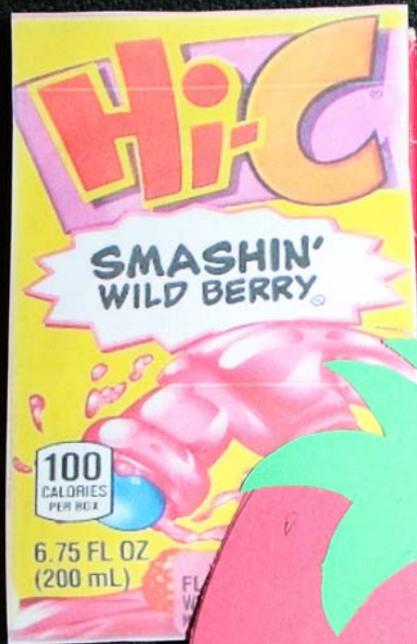

So students have more room to write. I have them write their name on the side.

To see wonderful improvement in your students' writing, do both writing prompts and tuck the September one away.

For back-to-school, run off the strawberry pattern on hot pink and the leaf template on lime green paper, which is summery.

For the end of the year, I used red and dark green.
