It's Time For A Valentine Clock Game

Print; laminate and trim.

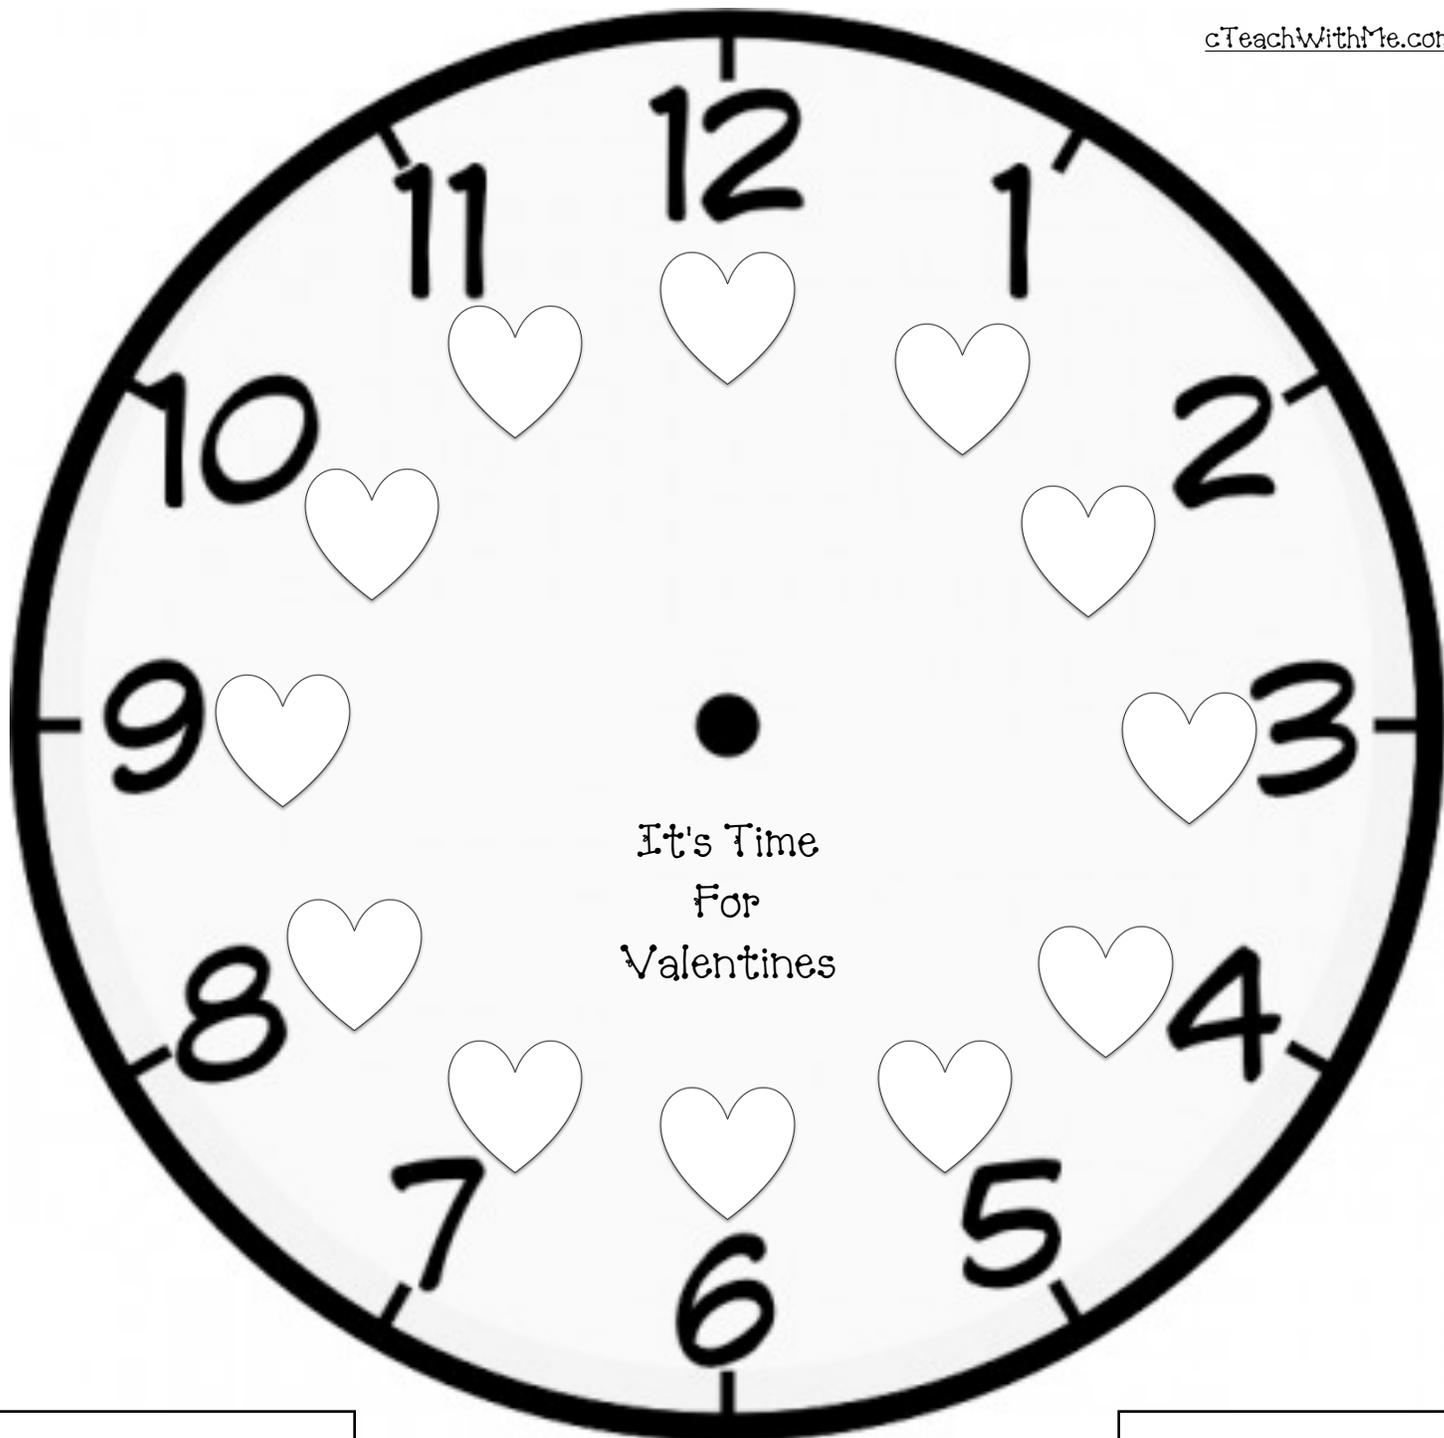

Poke a hole in the center and attach a large paperclip.

Students take turns spinning.

Whatever number they land on, they color the heart on their clock, cover it with a candy heart and record the digital time on the bottom.

If the paperclip lands in-between numbers, they can choose whatever number they need.

You can also poke a hole in the center of these spinners and make them into clocks by adding tag board hands. This is a quick, fun and easy way to whole-group assess
