

Martin
Luther
King
had a dream.

I have a dream too.
I want to be a teacher
when I grow up.
Diane

M
L
K

I want to go to college.
I want to get married.
I want to have children.
I want to visit all 50 states.
I want to go to England.
I want to learn a foreign language.
I want to have a successful career.

Front and back.

Add a school photo for that finishing touch.

Older students write down what their dreams and hopes for the future are.

Younger kiddos can leave plain.

Martin
Luther King
had a dream.

I have a dream too.
I want to be a

when I grow up.

My Dreams
 I have many dreams. I'd like to graduate from high school and go to college to become a teacher.

After graduation I dream of having my own classroom and creating interesting lessons to make learning fun for my students.

I dream of getting married and having a big wedding, then in about five years, hopefully have a baby, and be a mom as wonderful as mine.

I also dream of traveling to all 50 states, as well as to England and Scotland.

It's good to have dreams. They make me happy and keep me motivated.

My Dreams
 I have many dreams. I'd like to graduate from high school and go to college to become a teacher.

After graduation I dream of having my own classroom and creating interesting lessons to make learning fun for my students.

I dream of getting married and having a big wedding, then in about five years, hopefully have a baby, and be a mom as wonderful as mine.

I also dream of traveling to all 50 states, as well as to England and Scotland.

It's good to have dreams. They make me happy and keep me motivated.

Dreams

Hold fast to dreams
 For if dreams die
 Life is a broken-winged bird
 That cannot fly.

Hold fast to dreams
 For when dreams go
 Life is a barren field
 Frozen with snow.

-Langston Hughes

Younger kiddos can simply do the dove or write what they want to be when they grow up on the tummy of the bird.

Folding the wings provides great fine motor practice to strengthen finger and hand muscles.

For that finishing touch, add a school photo to the back.

Older students use the "stationery" worksheet to write about their dreams.

They color the picture, fold their paper over and glue it together.

You can punch a hole in the top and attach a yarn loop, connecting it to the bottom of the dove, or simply glue the bird to the top.

The back of the prompt has Langston Hughes' "Dreams" poem on it.

My Dreams

I have many dreams. I'd like to graduate from high school and go to college to become a teacher.

After graduation I dream of having my own classroom and creating interesting lessons to make learning fun for my students.

I dream of getting married and having a big wedding, then in about five years, hopefully have a baby, and be a mom as wonderful as mine.

I also dream of traveling to all 50 states, as well as to England and Scotland.

It's good to have dreams. They make me happy and keep me motivated.

Dreams

Hold fast to dreams
For if dreams die
Life is a broken-winged bird
That cannot fly.

Hold fast to dreams
For when dreams go
Life is a barren field
Frozen with snow.

-Langston Hughes

Diane

Mystery on a 100 Chart

1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	10
11	12	13	14	15	16	17	18	19	20
21	22	23	24	25	26	27	28	29	30
31	32	33	34	35	36	37	38	39	40
41	42	43	44	45	46	47	48	49	50
51	52	53	54	55	56	57	58	59	60
61	62	63	64	65	66	67	68	69	70
71	72	73	74	75	76	77	78	79	80
81	82	83	84	85	86	87	88	89	90
91	92	93	94	95	96	97	98	99	100

Something's hidden

Color in the following numbers to find out the secret.

1, 5, 11, 12, 13, 21, 23, 31, 33, 34, 41, 43, 44, 54, 57, 64, 67, 74, 75, 76, 77, 87, 97

Diagonals:

Color the TOP of the diagonal for these numbers: 22, 70, 73, 88, 99

Color the BOTTOM of the diagonal for these numbers: 2, 60, 63, 78, 89, 100

The secret is...

The capital letters MLK
Which stands for...
Martin Luther King

If you want, have students trim their mystery picture, then complete the writing prompt:

"You could always count on Dr. King..." and then glue it to the bottom of their completed 100 chart.

You could always count on Dr. King...

You could always count on MLK to give an inspiring and motivational speech.

You could count on him to lead a peaceful march, boycott, and sit-in.

You could always count on Dr. King to never give up.

Count on Martin to stand with you, fighting for justice and equality.

Many counted him as a close and personal friend.

Count yourself blessed that he made an extraordinary impact on the world, making it a better place to live.

You can count on his legacy continuing.

I count him as one of the most influential men that ever lived.

Comparing and Contrasting 2 People

Martin Luther King Jr.

President Barack Obama

Different:

Same:

Different: