The packet includes 24 poster rules. They come 2-on-a page to conserve paper and ink. I printed mine on card stock then laminated. You can keep them separate and hang on the wall, or attach with a split ring to make a booklet. I've included a cover and last page for this.

Patterns come in color so that you can quickly & easily make a sample to share, as well as BW for kiddos to color their own.

Just the right size bus booklet with easy-peasy cutting.

Students can simply straight cut around the square, or cut around the bus leaving a white edge

The bus is large, almost a full page, with the 9, smaller pages fitting on the "windshield".
(5 little pages on a one-page pattern).

Use all 9 pages, or make a smaller booklet for little ones, with less pages.

My students absolutely LOVE this activity.

Rules can get tedious & boring, so this craftivity is a super-fun way to check comprehension, at the same time reviewing & reinforcing the rules.

Bus Safety Do or Don't?

1. Let the pigeon drive the bus.
2. Toss a ball to a friend in the back.
3. Keep your hands to yourself.
4. Talk to strangers.
5. Line up single file.
6. Put your backpack in the aisle.
7. Stick your arms out the window to wave.
8. Be polite and kind.
9. Stay seated until the bus comes to a complete stop.
10. YELL "Hello" to your friends in the back.
11. Use an inside voice.
12. Eat on the bus.
13. Hang on to the railing.
14. Walk BEHIND the bus.

Students make a "Popsicle stick Puppet Paddle! Pal"

Teacher reads the statements. Students figure out if this is a "Do" or a "Don't" then face the appropriately labeled bus towards you.

Happy, smiling bus = Do!
Sad bus filled with monsters = Don't!

Do

Don't

For an independent center activity, print, laminate & trim the 24 "Do" and "Don't" cards for students to sort. Includes header cards. There are 12 cards on a one-page pattern. You can also pass the cards out to students, then ask them to show and share the card they are holding, telling whether this is a "Do" or a "Don't" rule.

I learned about bus safety today!
Ask me to tell you some rules.

Bookmarks with 12 to a one-page pattern.

Paper Praise

Inexpensive necklace. Strengthen finger muscles & improve dexterity, while practicing counting, making a pattern etc. I used "pony beads" and cut up plastic straws for extra things to string. You can buy both at The Dollar Store.

I know bus safety!

"Paper Praise" slap bracelets.
Slap them on with a piece of
Scotch tape at the end of the day.
Parents will read and hopefully ask their child what they learned.
